ELECT OFFICERS FOR INTERURBAN

H. H. ZIGLER OF COLUMBUS, NAMED PRESIDENT OF NEW ROAD.

CINCINNATI COMPANY READY

Work will be Rushed to make Application to Railway Commission
For its Franchise.

At a meeting of the stock holders of the Cincinnati Construction company, held yesterday afternoon, H. H.
Zigler, of Columbus, was named as president, W. L. Jamison, of Cincinnati, vice president, P. D. Jamison, of Cincinnati, secretary and treasurer,
and Joseph Ellis, resident manager and assistant secretary. The directors are H. H. Zigler, W. L. Jamison, P. D. Jamison, George P. Stinson, of Cincinnati and Joseph Ellis.

Janesville Headquarters.
At the meeting yesterday Janesville was named as the official headquarters and a special meeting of the board of directors and backers of the proposed interurban will be held in Cincinnati on Monday next at which all the officers with the exception of Joseph Ellis will be in attendance. Matters of importance will then be decided upon and the plans for routes and general work discussed.

Rush Work.
President Howard Harrison Zigler
of Columbus, said this morning: "Mr.
Ellis has been instructed to continue his work of running the first survey to Madison as speedily as possible.
Our route is not yet determined upon definitely although I will say the road will be an air line between this city and Madison and will reach many of the places now not touched by railroad connections."

By October.
"I should think that if nothing happens to delay the work, we should be ready to make application to the state railway commission for a franchise to construct our road by the first of October. I do not anticipate any delays and it granted and the winter is an open one as last, construction work will begin at once."

No Opposition.
"We do not anticipate any opposition to our road and I was surprised to learn that Mr. Montgomery of the Madison line was talking of opposiing our entrance into Madison. Thus far we have been too busy with the preliminary work to meet and discuss the project with him, but feel assured that the entrance into the Capital city will be adjusted."

Is Certain.
"If we were not certain that this could be arranged we would not have gone as far as we have with our work. One right of way men will ac-cure the rights for the tracks as soon as the survey is completed and by the time the work is over and Mr.
Ellis has completed his studies we shall be ready to appear before the railway commission."

Is Desired.
"As far as I can learn, from my past year's work on the line, the property owners along the right of way, or possible rights of way, are most anxious for us to build. We have received several offers from persons owning property to cross their land and encourage them from both the citizens of Janesville and Madison."

Good Line.
"I deem the line to be a paying one from the start. Mr. Heggs has just completed his Watertown branch and the first cars I believe were to run yesterday. He will come into Madison from the east and we from the south. Connecting in Janesville with the Rockford line, it will make a complete circle of interurbans from Chicago, via Milwaukee and Madison, back to Chicago by way of Janesville."

Minor Matters.
"I am not at liberty to say at this time just what our route will be how we will leave the city but if granted the franchise, and I see no reason to think it will be withheld, we shall certainly build the road."

A PROMISING CANDIDATE.

RAILWAY EMPLOYEES TO ENTER POLITICS

Protective Association of Nebraska
Railway Men Meets
Tomorrow.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Omaha, Neb., July 24.—Leaders of both political parties are manifesting a lively interest in the meeting called for this city tomorrow of the Nebraska State Railway Employees' Protective association. The association has been in existence six months and is said to have membership of 15,000. It now proposes to enter politics as an organization and it is understood that the meeting called for tomorrow is to discuss what course the organization shall pursue in regard to the presidential contest. Whether the support of the association will be thrown to Judge Taft or Mr. Bryan is a question to which the leaders so far have declined to return a definite answer.

ROADS ARE INDICTED BY THE GRAND JURY

John H. Stetson, was married yesterday to Count Santa Eulalia, of Portugal.

PITIALE CONDITION IN FLOOD DISTRICT

Alderman John Shattuck Returns
from Tour of Red River District.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
St. Louis, Mo., July 24.—Alderman
John Shattuck returned yesterday from a tour of the flooded district along the Red River and declared the conditions there to be pitiable. Practically every vestige of anything with which sustain life had been swept away and in numerous instances the people are facing starvation.

ITALIANS DROWNED IN SWISS TUNNEL

Strike Subterranean Lake in Digging Tunnel and 25 are Drowned.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Bern, Switzerland, July 24.—Twenty-five Italian workmen were drowned today in the Loetschberg tunnel in the Bernese alps. Without warning their tools pierced the wall that separated them from a subterranean river, or lake, the existence of which,
until now was unknown.

ASKED FOR TROOPS TO STOP OUTRAGES

Italian's Quarters in Louisiana Blown up and Sheriff Calls on Governor for Aid.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Natchitoches, La., July 24.—Following the dynamiting of an Italian's home here this morning and other disorders, Sheriff Sant today asked the governor for troops. The Italians by the hundreds are leaving this section of the state.

MANUFACTURERS MEET TO TALK FREIGHT INCREASE

Will No Doubt Oppose Recent Action Of The Southwestern Freight Association.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Ill., July 24.—That the business men of the country do not intend to submit to an increase in freight rates without a fight was made evident today when a number of representatives of the manufacturing and commercial interests of the nation met in this city to confer in regard to the recent action of the Southern Freight association in filing with the Interstate Commerce Commission a new freight rate tariff calling for a general advance in joint freight rates for Texas of approximately eight per cent.
The parties to the conference were the members of the committee of eighteen appointed at the May conference of manufacturers and shippers. The organizations represented by the committee include the National Hardware Lumber association, National League of Commission Merchants, National Industrial Traffic League, Illinois Manufacturers' association, American Shippers' association, Iowa State Manufacturers' association, National Association of Manufacturers, National Association of Agricultural Implements and Vehicle Manufacturers, National Wholesale Lumber association, and the Manufacturers' association of New York.
While the organization named and a number of additional ones are assembled here to oppose any increase in rates, the fact has developed that the manufacturing and commercial interest do not all agree on the invalidity of the proposed increase.
This has complicated the situation and is expected to prove of advantage to the railroads in the contest. The metal and allied industries, it is understood, do not object to the comtemplated increase in the freight rates. Many shippers in the south, it is also understood, will submit to the proposed increase of rates by the Southern roads without much opposition, provided there is no discrimination in the new rates.

GIRL'S WHEREABOUTS ARE STILL UNKNOWN

Anonymous Postal Gives a Clue but Another Miss Babbitt is Found.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, Wis., July 24.—No trace has yet been found of Miss Edith Babbitt of this city. It is believed that she is in Indiana, as she had no reason for leaving her home. Her suit case has been located in Clinton Junction and as she was last seen in Indiana it is thought that she has again come back to Wisconsin.
A postal card signed "D" and postmarked Kansasville was received by the family in Beloit stating that a Miss Babbitt was registered at a hotel in Kansasville. Her brother Arthur went to Kansasville, which is in Illinois, near Burlington and Eagle, but she was no longer there and it is doubtful if the girl was Miss Babbitt of Beloit.

Mrs. Clarence Kimball Died in Beloit at the home of her daughter, Mrs.
J. J. Reed. She was fifty-two years old and survived by a brother, Milton James Kimball, of Janesville.
The funeral will be held in Beloit
Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.
Elks' Picnic.
About forty folks from Rockford and Otis from Freeport attended the Elks' barbecue at Yost's Park today.

FATAL ACCIDENT ON
MICHIGAN CAR LINE
Several Persons Are Seriously Injured
in the Wreck at Michigan Center.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Jackson, Mich., July 24.—An eastbound limited car on the Detroit, Jackson & Chicago electric road collided head-on with a westbound local car at Michigan Center today. Edward A. Stewart of Jackson was probably fatally hurt, and Mrs. Maudie Jones of Jackson, Samuel Brown of Cleveland and Charles Kempf of Chelsea, Mich., were severely injured.

BIDS FOR $100,000 SEWER CONTRACTS

Were Opened in Council Chamber Before a Large Gallery This Afternoon—Took Hours to Read Them.

Seventeen sewer construction and material contracts, the larger number of them seated in the council chamber yesterday afternoon, at the city hall this afternoon. At the city hall this afternoon, the bids for the building of the sewer line from 38th and 100th streets to the city hall were opened. At half-past three o'clock City Engineer C. V. Kersh, Mayor Heddes, and Aldermen Sheridan and Buchholz had gotten through only a few of the various estimates and it will probably not be definitely known until sometime tomorrow just who have submitted the most favorable propositions. There is more competition this year than has been known here for some years and it is expected that the successful offers will be exceedingly favorable to the city. There is a separate proposition for each of the eight districts in addition to the main sewer outlet. Most of the bidders submit three sets of figures for 36, 48, and 48 inch conduits and one set of these taken at random will show how the bids are running. The People's Construction Co., for instance, offers to build the section of 48-inch sewer in a 24-foot cut for $1.10 a foot if built under the Ramsey concrete block system;
for $4.00, if Jackson piping is used;
and for $1 a foot, plain concrete. Another concern offers to build this for $5.70, if of brick; for $5.50 with Pamley blocks; and for $5.25 with Jackson pipe. The latter concern will build the section for $7,000 and the former will do it for $9,000. Some of the other figures submitted by the people's Co. are: bulkhead, $350;
storm water invert, $230; manholes, $15; concrete 30, timber 35. In district No. 15 Ryan & Finley will lay 10-inch pipe for 63 cents, 12-inch for 67 cents, and 15-inch for 77 cents, and so forth.

TRIED PROPRIETOR ON ARSON CHARGE

I. Rosenblatt of Fond du Lac, Owner of Fair Store, up in Court Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Fond du Lac, Wis., July 24.—At two o'clock this afternoon I. Rosenblatt, proprietor of the Fair store, was (ph)
on the charge of arson before Judge Commissioner F. W. Chabourne. The case was to have come up this morning before Judge Hewitt, and an affidavit of prejudice was filed against him by Mr. Rosenblatt. It was then decided to have the case tried before Justice Fairbanks, but it was learned that he would be a witness for the prosecution before the hearing was completed. It is expected that there will be some sensational developments.

WILLIAM HOGAN WAS RUN OVER BY CARS

At Millux, Cal., Yesterday Morning—
Sorrow Again Broods Over Home of Mother at S. Franklin and Holmes Sts.

To Mrs. John W. Hogan, widow of the late C. W. Hogan, who seems to have been called upon to witness another sorrow almost as a constant visitor in recent years, terrible tidings were conveyed at half past six o'clock last evening in the following message:

Kern, Cal., July 23, 1908.
Mrs. J. W. Hogan, Janesville, Wis.
William J. Hogan, employed as brakeman July 18 by Southern Pacific Co., was run over and killed at Millux, California, at ten o'clock this morning. He evidently went to sleep under a car while train was on sidetrack waiting for another train to pass, and was run over when the train moved. What disposition shall be made of body? P. M. WORTHINGTON, Superintendent.

The news of the untimely end of his son came like a bolt from a clear sky. Only last Sunday the mother had received a letter from him stating that he had given up his work for the Great Northern in Montana and was on his way to the Golden State where he was to enter the employ of the Southern Pacific.

William Hogan was twenty-three years of age. Besides the bereaved mother, he leaves five brothers and one sister. Undertaker Nelson has wired to have the remains prepared for burial and sent to Janesville.

AMATEUR PLAY WAS EXCELLENTLY GIVEN

Clever Performance Given Last Evening
at the Opera House.

Last night at the opera-house was given one of the best home talent entertainments that has been given in this city for a long time. It was attended by a large-sized audience who appreciated the excellent work of the amateur players and who cheered them frequently. The singing was especially fine and the dances very gracefully performed.

The entertainment was "The Carnival of the Seasons" given under the auspices of St. Mary's church, and showed through the manner in which it was carried out the careful training and coaching of Mrs. Maud M. Jackson, under whose direction the company have been trained. Mrs. Jackson was ably assisted by Prof. W. T. Thiele, who furnished the music for the songs and dances.

Further Good, in speaking of the entertainment in a short address given to thank the audience, said that the play was the best home talent play ever given in the city of Janesville and that the success was entirely due to the efforts of Mrs. Jackson. In reply to this, Mrs. Jackson thanked Rev. Thiele and the people of St. Mary's church for coming to her aid when it seemed that the play would not be given on account of the failure of the Methodist church to submit her. She said that she had been prepared to make it conform as much as possible to the wishes of the Methodist people, but since the congregation of St. Mary's church had assumed the responsibility she had made it considerably gay and that it would have been had the Methodists been in charge.

The play consisted of six acts, each of which portrayed some of the wonders of Nature and of the seasons. The hit of the evening was the appearance of the two little girls, Georgia Carlo and New Year and Fritz Thiele as Cupid with his arrows and bow, both were dressed in flesh colored tights. Their sweet little voices as they spoke their lines and sang their songs created tremendous applause. Other features was the drill of the soldier boys, the reveal of Vacation and her Summer boys and Summer girls, a real lively football game with the crowd cheering and a great number of graceful drills, ending with the singing of "Grand Old Flag" by the class and the crowd singing "The Star-Spangled Banner" on their shoulders.

The following are the characters who assume the principal roles in the play:

Father Time	Clyde Turnbull
Mother Nature	Margie Hoffman
Spring	Georgia Carlo
Summer	Allen Thibault
Autumn	Maudie McLaughlin
Winter	Charles Bartlett
Little Sun	S. D. Howes

Fourth of July	Harwood Shelly
April Fool	William McInley
Janeville	Stella Macdonald
New Year	Georgia Carlo
Cupid	Fritz Thiele
Front Street Queen	D. Van Tolon
Crystal Ball	Adeline Rathford

MR. AND MRS. W. E. THRESHER
HAVE GONE TO ECHO, OREGON

Former Janesville Printer Made a Success of "The Radium," a Newspaper Published at Wedderburn.

There has recently come to the Gazette's editorial desk a copy of "The Radium," a weekly newspaper published in Wedderburn, Curry county, Oregon, which contains the following interesting mention of two former Janesville people:

"Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thresher, who had been residents of Wedderburn for the past year and a half, departed for eastern Oregon the first part of the week. During the time Mr. Thresher had charge of the Radium as its editor, the paper was changed from a monthly to a five, permanent weekly, one of the brightest in the state. His ability as a newspaper man was quickly recognized by the craft throughout the state. He is a forceful, explicit writer and his pen made the Radium one of the few weeklies which readers talk about. He published an unusual amount of original matter, considering the field in which he worked, and, though he and Mrs. Thresher had the happy faculty of making Curry county residents their friends, Mr. Thresher desired to enter a different field, and so purposes making arrangements to eventually locate in Echo, where he will, period venture, take up newspaper work again. In their removal, Wedderburn loses a family it had learned to esteem for true worth."

CLINTON

Clinton, July 23.—Dr. A. S. Parker had a hand quite badly injured a few days ago by a horse which he was leading getting frightened at an auto and suddenly pulling back catching two fingers in the doctor's left hand against the buggy.

The funeral of Morita L. Hartshorn was held this afternoon from the home. It was one of the largest funerals of recent years hereabouts.

Messrs. O. L. Woodward and L. H. Florida, our expert gliding engineers, report having great trouble with their garden, many hundreds of the valuable plants dying from some unknown cause. The loss has been very heavy and shows no signs of letting up.

H. A. Mohlenbach was at the democratic convention yesterday but on account of large business affairs had to return in the evening.

Geo. Kemmeyer leaves tomorrow night or Saturday for the northern part of the state where he is to start two parties at work for the government in studying the waters of different lakes, streams and brooks to ascertain the properties certain kinds of fish require in the water, also to study the general state of wild vegetation from a scientific and chemical standpoint. Mr. Kemmeyer is one of the boys of which Clinton is immensely proud. By hard work he has attained very near to the very top in the list of expert chemists of this country and is also an authority on nature subjects, being also an expert bird photographer from wild nature.

The expedition is under the supervision of the Wisconsin Geographical and Natural History Survey, Wisconsin Fish Commission and U. S. Bureau of Fishery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Woolston entertained a large company of relatives and friends at a 6 o'clock tea this evening.

No Careful Buying Housewife Can Afford to Miss This Sale

The recent financial uncertainty and restlessness forced many manufacturers and jobbers of wash goods to unload their goods on the market at lower prices than have been quoted for a long while.

Only a small percentage of merchants throughout the country were enabled to profit by these circumstances. Some were over-loaded in this line themselves. Others hadn't the ready money to take advantage of the situation.

Fortunately for ourselves and our patrons we weren't over-loaded and we were in a position to pay spot cash for the goods and so it is that we are enabled to quote these very low sale prices.

There are about 40 days left in which to sell Summer Wash Goods.

AT 12 1-2c

At 12 1/2c we offer several thousand yards of beautiful wash goods, in every color combination. Embroidered novelties, plaids, side bands effect, stripes, floral designs, etc., most of them the late purchases referred to above and have only been in the store about 30 days. Compared to what the average stores are offering there is an air of newness about them that is refreshing. The values we offer were made to sell this season at 25c to 35c a yard. This is a final clean-up price and the facts about them are not overdrawn.

Several thousand yards in every color and design, 30 days ago worth 25c to 35c, your choice until sold 12 1/2c a yd.

AT EIGHT O'CLOCK SATURDAY MORNING

WE WILL OPEN OUR

MANUFACTURERS' SALE OF SHORT ENDS OF TABLE DAMASK.

This sale lot consists of 300 short ends (table cloth lengths) of bleached, silver bleached and unbleached table damask, values better than anything we have ever given.

There are 75 different patterns, the manufacturer's complete line consisting of all the different styles and qualities that they make. Here are some of the patterns:

AMERICAN BEAUTY ROSE.	TULIPS.
IRIS.	CONVENTIONAL PATTERNS.
ASTOR.	SPOTS.
CHRYSANTHEMUMS.	FLEUR DE LIS.
DAISY.	PANSY.
SCROLLS.

The prices for the different lengths will range from 98c up. Women who miss this sale miss an opportunity. Be on hand early.

EBERHARD ADMITS MURDER OF AUNT

CAUGHT NEAR PATERSON, HE CONFESSES THE CRIME.

WANTED MONEY TO MARRY

Takes Detectives to Place Where He Buried the $2,400 He Stole—Police After His Accomplice.

New York, July 24.—Drawn back to the scene of his crime by a force he could not resist, August Eberhard, self-confessed murderer of his aunt, Mrs. Ottillio Eberhard, a Venetian widow whom he lured to a lonely spot in New Jersey a few days ago and shot to death, was captured near Paterson, N. J., Thursday and is now a prisoner in the Hackensack jail.

What interested the authorities most in the confession Eberhard made to them late in the day was the reason he gave for committing the crime. Eberhard said that he was in love with a New York girl and that he needed money to marry her, so, knowing that his aunt had $2,500, he plotted to kill her and steal the money. Eberhard says he also intended to kill his pretty cousin, Ottillio Eberhard, to whom he was engaged, so that nothing would stand in the way of his marriage to the New York girl. The police have the name of the girl mentioned by Eberhard and she will be brought to Hackensack to tell what she knows of the murder.

Shot Himself in Leg.
Hollow-eyed, cheeks drawn, and with the look of a hunted animal on his face, Eberhard was found lying on the lawn of a residence just outside of Paterson. There was an ugly-looking wound in his right leg, which the murderer first said had been inflicted by Italians who attacked him, but which he afterwards confessed was inflicted by himself so as to make the police believe he had been wounded on the night his aunt was killed.

An important point in the confession was the statement by Eberhard that he had an accomplice in the murder plot. He said, however, that his accomplice had no hand in the killing of Mrs. Eberhard. This man, who was one of Eberhard's friends, has fled to the west and the police are looking for him. They have his name.

When Eberhard was searched not a penny was found in his pockets. He said he had buried the money he stole from his aunt. He led the detectives to a tree near Little Falls and there dug up the $2,400 he had stolen.

Fatal Powder Mill Explosion.
King's Mills, O., July 24.—One man was killed and another fatally injured in a terrific explosion which demolished one of the big powder mills here Thursday. That there were no more fatalities was due to the fact that the explosion came just at the close of the dinner hour before all the men had returned to work.

Jealousy Leads to a Murder.
Port Edwards, Wis., July 24.—Daniel L. Lynch shot and killed Richard Nommensen, shot and seriously wounded Miss Anna Sorenson and then tried to kill himself. Jealousy over the attentions which Nommensen was paying to Miss Sorenson is said to have been the cause of the tragedy.

Cripple Kills Wife's Admirer.
Chicago, July 24.—Lying in bed, a helpless cripple, looked in a plaster cast, William T. Brantizky, 38 years old, an architectural engineer, 4067 Grand boulevard, shot and killed Lucas Blotten, 23 years old, who he declared had wrecked his home.

WATSON OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN.

Populist Candidate Directs His Attacks All at Bryan.

Macon, Ga., July 24.—Thomas E. Watson, Populist candidate for president, opened his campaign here Thursday night in a speech of one hour to an audience that taxed the capacity of the Grant opera house. He asked for Georgia's electoral vote and said that, if necessary, he would give them to Bryan to defeat Taft. His assaults were all directed at Bryan, however, and his praises were for Roosevelt and Taft. His charge against Bryan of refusing to vote for Crisp for speaker in the Democratic caucus because of his being a confederate was heard in silence, but his attack on the Nebraskaan for his attitude in giving the negroes comfort in the Brownsville matter was repeatedly applauded.

TAR KILLED DURING GUN DRILL.

Seaman on Battleship Mississippi
Dies in Machinery.

Newport, R. I., July 24.—Joseph J. Henry, an ordinary seaman and powder passer on board the new battleship Mississippi, was killed during a gun drill in one of the forward eight-inch turrets Thursday. His neckerchief caught in the training cage of one of the guns and Henry was drawn into the machinery and his neck was broken.

MRS. BOURKE COCHRAN IN DEN-VER.

Denver, Colo.—The arrival here during the convention of Mrs. Bourke Cochran, to those who are in a romantic state of mind, recalls the romantic love affair of herself and America's premier orator. It will be remembered that Mr. Cochran wooed her around the world and finally won and nature's grandeur in Arizona. Mrs. Cochran was the daughter of Henry Clay Ide, former governor of the Philippines, and in her youth he knew Robert Louis Stevenson as a personal friend. Today she is a simple, unaffected lady, cultivated and of the highest refinement and accomplishment.

Mrs. Cochran is the orator's third wife, but so popular was he with the matrimonially inclined that the announcement of his last decision was received by designating mummies with regretful sighs.

These deepened into groans when it was learned that his wedding present to his bride was a check for $50,000 and a splendid necklace of matched pearls.

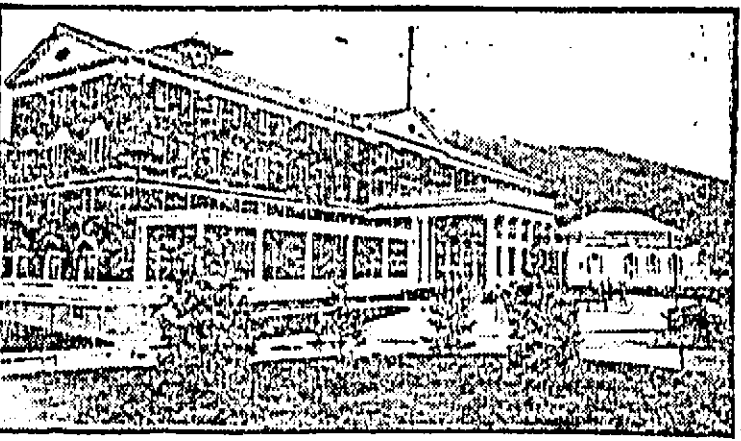

A pretty story is told of the friendship existing between Robert Louis Stevenson and Aunt Ide, now Mrs. Cochran.

The great writer wished to adopt her, but her father, Henry Clay Ide, then had committed to the San Juan Islands, would not consent to this, so the famous novelist was forced to compromise on a daily visit from his famous protegee. Aunt Ide complained to him that she had not been treated fairly in the matter of birthdays because hers fell on Christmas day and therefore she received only one set of presents and partook of only one feast, whereas other children had two.

Straightway the great genius was moved to compassion and bequeathed to her by formal deed his own birthday, November 13. She has kept it as her own ever since. This unique deed is a quaint and charming specimen of Stevenson at his best.

FAMOUS GOLF LINKS AT HOT SPRINGS, VIEWED FROM THE CHAMBER WINDOW OF MR. TAIT. THESE LINKS DAILY SEE THE PLAY OF SOME OF THE GREATEST STATESMEN IN THE UNITED STATES.

By Hendrick.

Hot Springs, Va.—Oyster Bay awoke one morning to find itself famous. Now Hot Springs is duplicating the sensation. What Roosevelt did for Oyster Bay, Taft is doing for Hot Springs and as the former is the summer governmental center of the Union so the latter is the summer political center of Roosevelt's party and the republican candidate for president.

You will look a long while on the map before you find the little town of Hot Springs and yet in one volume you can find it in any newspaper in the United States. Such is fame. Nestling away from the heart of Bath county, on the extreme edge of Old Virginia, Hot Springs almost hides beneath the shadow of the Allegheny mountains. And as far as an unobscured world is concerned the shadow would never have been dispelled beneath the glare of the searchlight of publicity save for Hot Springs's good fortune in offering William H. Taft, sufficiently attractive natural charms to warrant the location there of the temporary republican national headquarters. There have been political caucuses in Hot Springs before, but this peaceful little town never joined the roll of rural fairs headed by familiar Oyster Bay until the ex-servant of war, with his retinue, arrived within its confines a few days after the republican convention took its adjournment.

There are a number of different rethe Homestead some of the biggest guns of the nation. Each day's list of visitors includes a senator or two, a handful of congressmen, an occasional cabinet officer and always and at all times one or more of the vigilant and energetic Taft managers, including Frank Hitchcock, Arthur I. Vorys, George Sheldon of New York, and Elmer Dyer of Ohio. Here the representatives of the republican national committee chose Hitchcock to be chairman. Here all of the campaign conferences to date have been held. Here the important speech with which Taft will accept the republican nomination is being drafted. In fact here are the big dollops on the republican map. Mr. Taft will be here continuing until he is ready to go to Cincinnati for his formal notification, on July 27. After the 27th Hot Springs will probably retire, temporarily at least, to its former oblivion, since the personal headquarters of the ex-secretary will thereafter be on the banks of the Ohio river. Until the 27th, however, Mr. Taft will continue to enjoy the bracing air, the inviting sports and the charming comforts of this resort village. His daily routine continues to include as its principal item several hours of active recreation in the open air. As usual a short time each day will be devoted to continued work on the speech of acceptance, to be delivered in Cincinnati July 27, and to continued conferences with his political managers, who are sweeping the national campaign into tangible shape. Here every comfort and every convenience is apparent, and the net result is shown in the reinvigorated health of the nominee himself. Each Sunday the secretary and his family attend the tiny Episcopal church here.

GREAT ANNUAL MID-SUMMER CLEARING SALE

Will continue until Saturday Night, August 8th. All prices in this advertisement void after that date.

We have decided for the benefit of those who have not been able to attend our Great Clearing Sale to continue this great money saving event a few days longer. Out of town folks who take the time and pay out so much money for railroad fare, will be richly repaid by attending on any of the remaining days of this great sale as we promise you even greater low price surprises than those of the brilliantly successful past two weeks. The balance of our Summer Merchandise will make its bow during the next two weeks with all prices cut so far below normal as to be simply amazing. While other stores are quiet now after their July sales, our store hums with activity. There are no dull days at this store—the reason—real, positive, superlative bargains. All previous sales are totally eclipsed in the quantity of goods to be sacrificed. Such another chance to economize will never be offered you again this season. We suggest the advisability of making early selections for present and future needs. This is positively the last call, so don't miss this opportunity if you wish to save money. Be sure and read every item in this Ad.

If You Were A Chemist,

And analysed a cake of P. & G. Naphtha Soap, you would KNOW how good it is.

But—you're not a chemist and the only way to find out how good P. & G. Naphtha Soap is, is to try it.

We want you to do so.

If "P. & G." is as good as we say it is, you will continue to use it.

If it isn't, you won't.

But, be sure to read and follow the directions on the inside of the wrapper. That is important. For this reason: "P. & G." is not ordinary soap. And it should not be used in the ordinary way.

5 cents a cake.

All grocers.

Services will be held at the M. E. church Sunday evening, July 26.

FUNERAL SERVICES

WERE HELD TODAY

Siloam Commandery of Knights Tem-plar Attended Services in a Body.

This afternoon at two o'clock the funeral of the late George J. Bliss, a brother of Howard P. Bliss of this city, was held from his late residence at 428 Lake street, Oak Park, Chicago. The Siloam Commandery of the Knights Templar, of which the deceased was a member and later recorder, attended the services in a body. Mr. George J. Bliss was an Illinois pioneer and was well known in the insurance and railway circles of Illinois. He was born in Springfield, Mass., seventy-nine years ago. He came to Illinois as a child and was ordained a minister in the Methodist church in 1850. In 1868, owing to ill health, he was forced to give up ministerial work and retired, later engaging in the insurance business in Freeport. In 1875 he went to Chicago and associated himself with the North-Western railroad as land sales agent. Much of his work was in the Northwest and he was most successful in making treaties with several important Indian tribes of the Dakotas. Later he was town assessor for Oak Park. He is survived by a widow, three children, Charles L., Mary E. and Levi P., and a brother, Howard P. Bliss of Janesville. The interment was at Forest Home cemetery.

FARMERS BUSY WITH THE HAY AND GRAIN

Harvesting These Crops Keeps Them Pretty Busy at Home These Summer Days.

Just now the farmers are so busy with their farm work that they have not the time to bring any of their produce to town. Corn, cutwheat, cutting of barley and the starting of the hay needed for their own use have kept them so busy that only a few loads of hay have been brought in. The hay is averaging about two tons to the acre, so that with a good crop of corn farm products ought to sell at moderate prices, which is what is needed after the financial panic. Most of the crops are looking well and are coming along very nicely. The barley is ready to cut and oats will be in a week or so.

EVANSVILLE FAIR
PLANS EXTENSIVE

Many New Features Promised as Well as Large Entries for Different Exhibits.

This year the Rock County fair held at Evansville, from September 1 to 4, promises to be better than ever before. There are some changes to be made, but the showing will be greater. In the attractions, horse racing is the most prominent, for eighteen hundred dollars will be awarded to the winners. Prizes will also be hung up for baseball games and brass band competitions. On Friday, the last day of the fair, there will be a floral parade of baby cars, the first prize for the best being three dollars and the second two dollars. There will also be prizes offered to the mothers of twins and triplets under one year old. As the opening day is but a few weeks off all the contestants are rushing their preparations for exhibiting.

A SERIOUS INJURY

C. E. Uehling Was Thrown from Load of Hay and Will Be Laid up for Some Time.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Atton, July 23.—What came very near to being a fatal accident happened to C. E. Uehling last Tuesday afternoon, when he was thrown from a load of hay and sustained injuries which will lay him by from active duties for a time. He struck on his arm and head and that no bones were broken seems a miracle. He was driving in from the field with a load of hay when the accident occurred and he was so stunned by the fall that he could not tell exactly how it happened. His country was not more serious and are hoping he can resume his accustomed labor again soon.

CHAPTER X.

THE offices of James Bansemer were two floors above those of Robert Graydon in the U. S. building. The morning after Graydon Bansemer's important visit to the house of the Cables, Eddie Deever lounged into Rigby's presence. He seemed relieved to find that the stenographer was ill and would not be down that day. The lanky youngster studiously inspected the array of law books in the cases for some time, occasionally casting a sly glance at Rigby. At last he ventured a remark somewhat out of the ordinary—

"That old man up in Bansemer's office gets on my nerves," said he, settling his long frame in a chair and breaking in upon Rigby's attention so suddenly that the lawyer was startled into a quick look of interest.

"Old Droom? What do you know about him?"

"Nothing in particular, of course. Only he sort of jars me when he talks," Rigby said, the young man had something on his mind.

"I did not know that you were personal friends," ventured Rigby.

"Friends!" snorted Eddie. "Holy mackerel! He scares the life out of me. I know him in a business way, that's all. He came down here three weeks ago and borrowed some books for Bansemer. I had to go up and get 'em yesterday. He told me to sit down while he looked up the books. I was there half an hour, and he talked all the time. By Jove! He makes your blood run cold. He said he had set aside in his will the sum of a hundred dollars to build a church for the honest man. 'That will be a pretty small church,' says I. 'It will be a small congregation, my son,' says he. 'What few real honest men we have will be—'

"Long enough to admire her above all others. He has often told me that she is the finest girl he's ever met. Oh, I'm sure father will be pleased, Mr. Cable."

"I met your father in New York, of course—years ago. I presume he has told you."

"I think not. Oh, yes; I believe he did tell me after we met you at Hookey's that night. He had never seen Mr. Cable."

"Nor Jane, I dare say."

"Oh, no! I knew Jane long before dad ever laid eyes on her." The look in his eyes satisfied her over all that he knew nothing more.

"You love her enough to sacrifice anything on earth for her?" she asked suddenly.

"Yes, Mrs. Cable," he answered simply.

"You would renounce all else in the world for her sake?"

"I believe that's part of the service," he said, with a smile. "Jane is worth all of that and more. She shall be first in my heart, in my mind, for all time, if that is what you mean, Mrs. Cable. Believe me, I mean that."

"Mr. Bansemer says that you are like your mother," she mused wistfully.

"That's why he loves me, he also says. I'm sorry I'm not like father," he said earnestly. "His great! She turned her face away so that he might not see the look in her eyes. 'I think Jane is like—' He paused in confusion. 'Like her father,' he concluded. She arose abruptly and took his hand in hers.

"Go to her, Graydon," she said. "Tell her that Mr. Cable and I want you to be our son. Good night and God bless you." She preceded him to the stairway and again shook hands with him. David Cable was ascending.

"Graydon," said the latter, pausing halfway up as the other came down. "You were ready to congratulate me in advance on the prospect of becoming president of the P. L. and A. Do you know that I was once an ordinary fireman?"

"Certainly, Mr. Cable. The rise of David Cable is known to every one."

"That's all. I just wanted to be sure, Jane was not born with a silver spoon, you know."

"And yet she is Jane Cable," said the young man proudly. Then he hurried on down to the expectant, throbbing Jane.

Francis Cable sat at her escritoire for an hour, her brain working with feverish energy. She was seeking out the right step to take in advance of James Bansemer. Her husband sat alone in his den and smoked long after she had taken her step and retired to rest, but not to sleep. On her desk lay half a dozen invitations, two of them from the exclusive set to whose inner circles her ambitious, vigorous aspirations were forcing her. She pushed them aside and with narrowed eyes wrote to James Bansemer—wrote the note of the diplomat who seeks to force-

Rigby. "Dad told me he called me a pup one day when I took a message up for Judge Smith."

"See here, Eddie," said Rigby, leaning forward suddenly. "I've heard two or three queer things about Bansemer. I want you to tell me all you hear from Droom and all that you see. Don't you think you could cultivate Droom's acquaintance a bit? Keep this very quiet—not a word to anybody. It may mean something in the end."

"Gee whizz!" murmured Eddie, his eyes wide with interest. From that day on he and Bobby Rigby were allies—even conspirators.

Later in the day Rigby had a telephone message from Graydon Bansemer suggesting that they lunch together. All he would say over the wire was that he would some day soon expect Rigby to perform a happy service for him. Bobby understood and was troubled. He suspected that Graydon had asked Jane Cable to marry him and that she had consented. He loved Graydon Bansemer, but for the first time in their acquaintance he found himself wondering if the son were not playing into the father's hands in this most desirable matrimonial venture. With a shudder of repugnance he put the thought from him, loyal to that good friend and comrade.

James Bansemer came into his office late that morning. He had not seen Graydon the night before, but at breakfast the young man announced his good fortune and asked for his blessing. To his son's surprise the older man did not at once express his approval. For a long time he sat silent and preoccupied to all appearance, narrowly studying his son's face until the young man was constrained to laugh in his nervousness.

"You love her, you are very sure?" asked the father at last.

"Better than my life," cried Graydon warmly.

"She has good blood in her," said Bansemer senior slowly, almost absently.

"I should say so. Her father is a wonderful man."

"Yes, I dare say," agreed the other, without taking his eyes from the son's face.

"But you don't say whether you approve or disapprove," complained Graydon.

"Not in the least, father. I love her. I'd hate to displease you."

"Then, of course, I approve," said the other, with his warmest smile. "Jane is a beauty, and I am proud of her."

"She is too good for me," lamented Graydon happily.

"I can't very well contradict her future husband," said the lawyer. There was a hungry look in his eyes as he glanced from time to time at the face of the boy who had his mother's unforgettable eyes.

A messenger brought Mrs. Cable's note to Bansemer soon after his arrival at the office. He and Elias Droom were in the back office when the boy came. They had been discussing the contents of a letter that came in the early mail. The lawyer accepted the note and dismissed the boy with the curt remark that he would telephone an answer in person.

"It looks to me as though this is going to be a rather ticklish affair," Droom resumed after the boy had closed the outer door behind him. Bansemer's mind was on Mrs. Cable's note. A queer smile hung on his lips.

"I'm rather touched by her astuteness," he said. "She's cleverer than I thought. Oh," suddenly remembering that it was not Mrs. Cable's letter they were discussing, "you always see the dreary side of things, Elias."

"I haven't forgotten New York," said the clerk dryly.

"Ah, but Chicago isn't New York, you know."

"Well, I was just reminding you."

"This man is going to fight back, that is plain."

"That's what Mrs. Norwood promised to do also, Elias. But she was like a lamb in the end."

"I wouldn't be very proud of that affair if I were you."

"See here, Droom, you're getting a trifle too familiar of late. I don't like it," said Bansemer sharply.

"I beg your pardon, Mr. Bansemer," said Droom, scrapping his foot across the floor and looking straight past his master's head. "It's for the good of the cause, that's all. It wouldn't do on Graydon's account for you to be driven from Chicago at this time. You see, he thinks you are beyond reproach."

"Curse your impudence, Droom! I won't be spoken to in that way," exclaimed Bansemer, white with sudden rage and loathing.

"Am I to expect my discharge, sir?" asked Droom, rubbing his hands absently, but looking squarely into Bansemer's eyes for the first time in their acquaintance. Bansemer glared back for an instant and then shrugged his shoulders, with a nervous laugh.

"We shan't quarrel, Elias," he said. "Speaking of Graydon, he is to be married before long."

"I trust he is to do well, sir. Graydon is a fine boy."

"He is to marry David Cable's daughter."

"Indeed! I did not know that David Cable had a daughter."

"You know whom I mean—Jane Cable. He turned rather restlessly, conscious that Droom's eyes were following him to the window. He glanced again at Mrs. Cable's note and waited.

"I suppose you are pleased," said Droom after a long pause.

"Certainly! Jane is a splendid girl. She's beautiful, accomplished and—well, she's thoroughbred," said Bansemer steadily, turning to face the old man.

"It is not necessary to remind you that her parents are unknown," said Droom.

"Still," said Bansemer, and he sat down and leaned forward eagerly, "she has good blood from both sides."

"Yes—the so-called best."

"You speak as if you know the truth."

"I think—yes, I'm sure I know. I have known for twenty years, Mr. Bansemer. I had the same means as you of finding out whose child she was."

"That's more than Mrs. Cable knows."

"She did not take the trouble to investigate. It's too late now."

"I don't believe you really know the names of her father and mother," said Bansemer slowly. "You are trying to trick me into telling you what I do know."

"There are portraits of her ancestors hanging in Fifth avenue," said Droom promptly. "Here," and he picked up a pencil. "I'll write the initials of her parents. You do the same, and we'll see that they tally." He quickly scratched four letters on a pad of paper. Bansemer hesitated and then slowly wrote the initials on the back of an envelope. Without a word they exchanged the papers. After a moment they both smiled in relief. Neither had been tricked. The initials were identical.

"I imagine the ancestors hanging in Fifth avenue would be amazed if they knew the story of Jane," said Droom, with a chuckle.

"I doubt it, Droom. Ancestors have stories, too, and they hide them."

"By the way, now that your son is to marry her, I'd like to know just what your game is."

Bansemer turned on him like a tiger, his steady eyes blazing.

"Game? There is no game, listen to me, Droom. We'll settle this once. I'm a bad man, but I've tried to be a good father. People have called me heartless. So be it. But I love that boy of mine. What little heart I have belongs to him. There can be no game where he is concerned. Some day here—"

Prince of Wales Presides at the Fete and Reviews the Pageant of Historical Groups.

Quebec, July 24.—The prince of Wales was the central figure Thursday in the magnificent spectacle reproducing Quebec's historic past and ushering in the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of the city by Champlain.

Aside from the spectacular features of the event, it was the occasion for a notable exchange of addresses between Vice-President at Port-au-Prince and the prince of Wales, in which each spoke of the existing relations between the United States and Great Britain and the prince delivered a message of good will to the American government.

An enormous crowd filled the Place d'Armes, fronting the Champlain monument, where the exercises were held. Here the prince received the addresses of the American and French representatives, the mayor of Quebec, and finally Champlain himself, reproduced as in the days of old, coming from the mimic reproduction of his original ship, the Don de Dieu, with some 1,000 followers representing every phase of Old France in Canada.

Spectacle is Splendid.

It was a splendid spectacle, carried out under bright skies, with a setting of this picturesque old city and its harbor filled with a fleet of international warships. At night the city and harbor were ablaze with lights. The warships were outlined in electric lights while the parliament and many other buildings were similarly lighted. From the citadel the prince looked across the St. Lawrence at a gigantic display of fireworks on the heights of Louis, showing in fiery outlines the portraits of King Edward, the falls of Montmorency and the battle of Wolfe and Montcalm.

His highness spent the early part of the day, meantime his highness spent the day returning naval visits and the calls of the foreign representatives. He was attended by a field marshal's escort in his drives about the city and was received with clamorous demonstrations by the crowds wherever he appeared.

Boards U. S. Warship.

The prince of Wales went aboard the United States battleship New Hampshire. As his launch, flying the royal standard, approached the battleship, the latter fired the royal salute of 21 guns; the bluejackets and marines ranged along the decks and tops, and rousing cheers were given as the prince stepped aboard. He was received on the after deck by Admiral Cowles and Capt. Winslow, who introduced the prince to the American officers and escorted him about the ship.

As a naval officer and expert, he showed great interest in the details of the New Hampshire, examining the big 12-inch guns and the secondary battery of the eight and six inch guns circling the lower deck. The prince complimented the American officers on the handsome appearance of the ship.

Two Roads Are Indicted.

Chicago, July 24.—Indictments charging violations of the federal laws against the issuance of passes were returned against the Illinois Central and the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Companies Thursday by the federal grand jury. In the Illinois Central indictment ten offenses are charged. Eight are alleged to have been committed by the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific road.

Policeman Accused of Murder.

New York, July 24.—Policeman David Sheppard of Brooklyn is under arrest, charged with the murder of Barbara Reitz, whose body was found in Irving Square park, Williamsburg. While Sheppard confesses that he was with the girl when she was shot, he denies that he killed her, saying that she shot herself with his revolver, which had been lying on a stool, or that the revolver exploded accidentally.

Oregon Physician Arrested.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 24.—Dr. Joseph S. Courtney of Portland, Ore., who is here attending the convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, was placed under arrest at the Union station early Friday morning, a few minutes after he had purchased a ticket for Chicago, on a charge of causing the death of a young girl through an operation.

The Laws and Nature of Lightning AND HOW TO CONTROL IT

Is the title of a very interesting little booklet which is being distributed by me.

It treats of the origin of lightning and the philosophy of the lightning rod. This booklet will be sent free on request to any one interested.

Contrary to the general opinion, the lightning rod does not attract lightning and draw it into the ground, but serves as a channel for the discharge of electricity which accumulates in the house.

Driedly, the principle of lightning is this: The clouds are filled with an electric force; the house is also filled with this same electric force, and these electrical forces, being of the same nature, have an attraction for each other. The air offers a resistance. When those forces become strong enough to overcome the resistance of the air, they come together with a loud crash. You know what the result is.

Now, here is the purpose of the copper lightning rod. The copper rod draws electricity from the house and discharges it into the air from its point thus preventing any accumulation of electrical force in the house.

I have an electric machine which will make a miniature thunder storm. I will show you how a house is loaded with electricity and how it is struck with lightning and then I will demonstrate the purpose of the lightning rod.

Call any time or drop me a card. Copper Rod for sale at 15c and 20c a foot.

The pure copper lightning rods I carry fulfill every specification and are highly endorsed by insurance companies.

A Good Breakfast for Five Cents

Start the day right by eating a breakfast that gives the greatest amount of mental and physical strength with the least tax upon the digestion. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with a pint of hot milk will supply all the energy needed for a half day's work—and the cost is about five cents.

Always heat the Biscuit in oven to restore crispness. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with milk or cream will supply all the energy needed for a half day's work. Try Toasted TRISCUIT, the Shredded Wheat wafer, for luncheon, with butter, cheese or marmalade.

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott.

July 26th, 1908.
Saul Rejected by the Lord—1. Sam. xvi:1-23.
(Read Chapters 13, 14 and 15.)
Golden Text—The Lord our God will serve, and His whole voice will be obeyed. Josh. xxiv:24.

Verse 15—What had God commanded Saul in the matter of the war with the Amalekites, and how had Saul disobeyed? (Verses 1-12.)

How can you justify God for commanding this wholesale slaughter of men, women, children and animals? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club, but do not attempt the answer without thorough enquiry and investigation.)

Did Saul know that he was lying to Samuel?

In a lie ever justifiable, or ever necessary, either from a human or Divine standpoint?

May a person be guilty of continuing sin, lie to cover up his tracks, and succeed in deceiving himself that he is very pious?

Verses 14, 15—May a person, like Saul, be very religious and practice sin, without the "bleating of the sheep" being heard by his neighbors?

Is a professed Christian generally rated at his true moral worth by his fellows?

If a man keeps a part of God's commandments and breaks the rest, does God give him any credit? Why or why not?

Is a professed Christian who knowingly breaks any of God's commandments, any better than an ordinary sinner?

EIGHT CADETS SUSPENDED

WEST POINT BOYS SENT HOME FOR HAZING OTHERS.

Secretary of War Will Pass on Their Cases—Details of Offense Not Told.

West Point, N. Y., July 24.—Eight cadets in the United States Military Academy here were sent to their homes Thursday as a result of hazing members of the fourth class.

They were William T. Russell, appointed at large, and Harry G. Weaver of Illinois, members of the first class, and Byron Q. Jones, New York; George W. Chase, New York; William M. Pride, Alabama; Isaac Spaulding, Oklahoma; William Kelle, Virginia, and James A. Gillespie of Pennsylvania, members of the third class.

The cadets who have been placed under suspension for what has come to be regarded in official eyes as the major offense in the academy list will have their cases passed upon by the secretary of war, and have been ordered to await the secretary's action at their homes. Precedent in such cases sets the penalty as dismissal from the academy following proof of the hazing charge.

Just what the incident was which caused the suspensions cannot be learned here. The academy authorities decline to talk upon the matter and refuse to give out any information regarding it. The incident was given publicity by one of the accused cadets after leaving West Point.

Hangs Himself in Galesburg Jail.
Galesburg, Ill., July 24.—A man thought to be Nicholas Morbier, about 35 years old, hanged himself in the county jail Thursday while apparently mentally deranged. Papers in his pockets showed that he was on the way from Paterson, N. J., to San Francisco and that he had been in Europe this summer.

Policeman Kills Highway Robber.
Denver, Col., July 24.—Policeman Frank Campbell Thursday shot and killed a man who ran away after being arrested and who was identified by P. L. Everett as one of two highwaymen who robbed him Wednesday night. Entries in a diary found on the dead man state he left Portsmouth, N. H., March 13, 1905.
